

On our first page is given the Road law as passed by the late Legislature for this county, provided it is accepted by the people at the election in August. The bill does away with the old system of working roads, and instead provides for their letting to contractors, who bid lowest, to keep them in repair. An additional tax is to be levied to pay for it which will be both ad valorem and by poll. It strikes us that the bill will better equalize the burden of the road keeping and put the weight where it ought to be on those who use it most. The county is already taxed to the extent of $900 to $1,000 for teams and plows for these roads, which, of course, under the new system, will be furnished by the contractors.

A C. BUELL, of the Washington Critic, the man who started the sensational report that a gigantic whiskey ring was in existence, but who now admits that he was lying, or rather as he terms it, only in fun, is not of that class of editors that do honor to the profession. He acknowledged before the Congressional Committee that he had been offered a bribe without resenting it as an honest man should, and the impression is that he would not hesitate to accept one. The Critic and its criticisms should hereafter pass as unthought if such a creature remains at the head of it.

The Court of Appeals is still mulling as to their decision in the Neal and Craft cases as well as in the Austin case. Should the people interested in these cases get impatient and want to hang somebody, we suggest that they try their hands on the members of this Court, not necessarily to entirely suspend their animation, but to convince them that something more is expected of them than junketing around the country on their own business.

The election of a republican legislature in Oregon, by a majority of at least six, is the latest from that State. This assures a republican Senator in the place of Grover, democrat, and will give the U. S. Senate to the republicans in March, 1883, without the vote of the traitor Mahone. The only hope for us is to secure the lower House, and from present indications matters are working nicely to that end.

The Midway Clipper takes neutral ground in the Appellate race, but keeps up Henry's name for information. The editor gives a fair statement of the misdoings, and the other doings of the unfortunate candidate, and leaves its readers to vote as they see proper after reading them. As for himself his vote depends on the future course of Mr. Henry, not on his past record.

A FORGER who succeeded in getting $20,000 out of the Ohio State Treasury, has just been sentenced to six years in the penitentiary on two of the fifty two indictments against him. At this rate, if he is found guilty on the remaining 50, he has just 155 years to serve the State, and Gov. Blackbur refuses to be comforted because he is beyond his pardoning power.

The country will be glad to learn that Vice-President Wheeler, after mature consideration has decided that fishing is better than getting $10 per day on the Tariff Commission, and therefore declines the honor, to give Author another chance to get a greater imbecile. Another of the Commission, Mr. Phelps, also declines to serve.

The Covington Commonwealth figures after giving the entire republican vote to Jacob, together with that of the greenbackers, and allowing 20,000 democrats that will not vote for Henry, that his (H.) majority will be 11,881, should the vote be as large as that of the presidential election of 1880.

The Brooklyn Globe very truthfully observes that it is money, not platforms, which enables republicans to win elections. It is Wall street, the treasury at Washington and political assessments that helps them to subvert the will of the people.

SENATOR BEN HILL, with his family, has returned to Georgia, it is feared by many of his friends to die, his fearful illness having reduced him to a mere shadow of his former self.

The festive croquet match is getting in its work. Walter Davis a well-known printer in Chattanooga, died in an hour after being hit with one by a man named Clayton.

The Republicans have gained four in the House, and now number 151. The Democrats have lost four, and now number 131. This has been brought about by onding Chalmers, Dibble, Finley and Wheeler, and seating Lynch, Mackey, Bishbee and Lowe.

—In arresting a circus proprietor at Southwest City, Mo., a performer was shot and killed and two other men injured by the sheriff and his posse, for showing without license.

—Somebody has raked over his memory and found that this year is but a repetition of 1857. A long cold Spring and Summer, with killing frost on the night of June 5th, is his recollection.

—A child, three years old, with both legs and an arm broken, was picked up twenty miles North of Dallas, Texas, in the track of the recent tornado. Nothing is known of its parents.

—Nape Hughes was in this neighborhood last Saturday, feeling of our farmers to see what he could buy their wheat at, but as there is no established price they all refused to sell at present.

—The continued wet weather has given the weeds such a start off that the farmers will be compelled to double their forces, and put in their besticks in order to be ready for harvest, which is right upon them.

—We are informed that the negroes in this vicinity have formed a ring and set their prices at $2 per day for harvesting, and any that they will not work for a cent less. The farmers ought to get twice hindered and let them slide.

—The Pittman Coal Company, composed of Danville gentlemen, will commence delivering coal on the first of August next. They claim that their coal is better than any taken from Kentucky mines, and it is to be sold cheaper, news that coal consumers here at least will receive with pathetic interest. The mines are in Laurel county near Pittman.

—Two successful sermons, something very fashionable at this season in Danville every year, were preached yesterday, one for the benefit of the graduates of Bell Seminary, the other for those of "Kent College." The "sweet girl graduates" were addressed by Rev. E. M. Thron, of the First Presbyterian church, his subject being, "One thing thou lackest." Rev. W. C. Young, of Louisville, addressed the Center College graduates, his text was, "Sincerely every man walketh in a vain show." The efforts of both gentlemen are highly spoken of.

—Misses Collins and Howies, of Crittenden, Ky., are visiting Miss Mary, the daughter of Col. Jas. A. Fisher, Miss Allen, of Tenn., is visiting Miss Mattie Kennedy, Miss Jennings, of Covington, is at Mr. R. A. Salter's. Miss Clara, of Lexington, is visiting Miss Lucy Quisenberry. Mr. Hardy, learning what had occurred, sought Elliott and killed him, fringing eleven balls into his body. The killing occurred at Coolidge, Kansas, and the trial at Dodge City, same State. Mr. Hardy was a student in Danville several years ago.

MT. VERNON DEPARTMENT.

Sam. M. Burdett, Editor.

—Mr. Walter Woolley has resigned his position as Secretary of the Pine Hill Coal Co., and has gone to Galveston, Texas. His place at Pine Hill is filled by Capt. W. A. Pugh, of Lexington, a clever gentleman and an accomplished accountant.

—Mr. H. George Prall, the state man, is just about the happiest man in these parts. He is somebody's father, and that somebody is a boy, and a bouncing big boy, too. The boy arrived Sunday night. It has not yet been determined which President he will be named for.

—THE CANDIDATES.—It seems to be pretty well settled that John H. Fish will make the race for county clerk. His candidacy assures his success. W. P. Hatt will run for sheriff and he will be elected. F. L. Warren will be a candidate for magistrate in the Bullock precinct. He is a good man to vote for. Messrs. J. A. Williams, R. L. Myers and John M. Fish, supervisors, are busy this week "criticizing" a book recently written by J. B. Kerby, our county assessor. They have made several changes in the work.

—Last Friday night the store house of J. W. Hoff at Pine Hill was destroyed by fire. None of the contents were saved. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary. Some goods from the store were found in the neighborhood next day, and from this circumstance it is thought it must first have been robbed and then fired. The loss to Mr. Hoff is about $2,000. The building belonged to Wm. Taylor and was not insured. Loss, $250. There is a general sympathy expressed for Mr. Hoff, on whom the loss is quite heavy.

—Mrs. Helen Brooks, wife of W. T. Brooks, of Paris, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Joplin. Major John S. Cooper, Quartermaster Agent U. S. of Louisville, having completed his investigations in this county, left Saturday for London. Major Cooper made many friends while here. He is a pleasant high-toned gentleman, and we would have been pleased to keep him here for life. Mr. W. C. Mullins has returned to Pine Hill from Scranton, Miss., where he has been engaged in the railroad business. Judge G. W. McClure has been quite sick for several days. Mrs. Elizabeth Brooks has returned from a visit to her children in Richmond and Paris. Miss Helen Conn has returned from school at Lexington. The school taught by Prof. A. G. Lovell at Lexington, closed Saturday. The day was celebrated by a picnic in which the pupils participated. There were some speeches and other exercises, making altogether a pleasant affair. The weather was oppressively hot Sunday morning. Rain began to fall about 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and continued until night. This county is solid for B. M. Burdett for Superior Court Judge. There should be a good attendance of Democrats at the Convention on the 21st. Sam Thompson, Garret Thompson and Robert Jones, who are building miners' houses, shutes, &c., for various coal companies in Laurel, were at home Sunday. They say business is booming in and around London.

"PRAISE THE LORD."

FRANKFORT, June 10, 1882.

Dear Interior:—I was never more agreeably surprised in my life than in the city of Frankfort and its surroundings. Abroad it has the reputation of an unhealthily place at the bottom of a sink hole, utterly uninviting in itself and surroundings to be the Capital of a proud Commonwealth like Kentucky. Really it is a gem of a city, as it appears to me at least, in this middle of June, worthy in every respect to be the seat of Government for this or any other State. Built upon a beautiful terrace on both sides of the lovely river that runs right through it, with ample room to spread in three directions without climbing a cliff; perfect facilities of draining, and of shade trees, so that the city is almost hidden in this wealth of foliage, and one can walk at any time of the day from one end of the city to the other under a graceful overhanging of leafy vines; red-clad society of the highest type known even in Kentucky; perfectly accessible by rail and turnpike; the seat of a growing lumber trade, and the natural market for the unmeasured wood and coal of our Eastern Kentucky mountains; the center of the hemp manufacture; I really cannot imagine what all this better about the removal of the Capital can mean, even if the State could afford the enormous loss in government buildings thrown away or sold for a song. I hope I am not growing political in my admiration of this beautiful Frankfort and its people, if so, I will leave such a dangerous neighborhood and get on other themes.

Our dear friend, Nath Woodcock, has continued his indefatigable and invaluable work for the success of the meeting. Every day since Monday, was to be the last but the business of "Hill" has had to take a back seat for a week at least. This morning he was off by 5 o'clock, being in Versailles and Clifton, and back here any night of the day "drum-bone" night service—possibly before the forenoon. It is his first continuous chance of attending these services since his wonderful conversion, over a year ago, near the close of the Richmond meeting. Besides being invaluable in his influence, as "Hill" fellow well met" with the people, we wish to wish, and himself a walking sermon, worth a dozen of mine, as a practical proof of the power of the gospel to the conversion of the soul, as well as a true man, every inch of him. We respect him for his genuine manhood (a rare article now-a-days), and love him as a brother (God bless him, ever).

We visited the penitentiary soon after arrival in the city and every thing was full of interest. Nearly 700 prisoners within walls—almost an equal number being drafted off to work on railroads, with ample accommodations, so that there is now no appearance of the terrible overcrowding that horrified the public not long ago. It is beautifully kept. Not a foul odor, nor an unsightly offense, at any turn. Tells clean and sweet, and in the female department it was interesting and touching to see the little attempts at dignity, in the way of a bit of old lace curtain, and scraps of worn Brussels carpet with which the occupants of one cell had either satisfied their taste or feminine ambition to look better than their neighbors. Five rows of sleeping cells in the male department rise one above the other with stairways and railed galleries in front, with an additional iron bar across 14 of them where the life prisoners sleep. Beds clean, and cells well swept and sweet. Every thing in the working departments goes like clock work. We were allowed to speak to several, among them Mr. Throve Kennedy, who clocked up, poor fellow, as we did when we created him. It was almost too much for Nath with his great heart sensitive as a woman's. They were boon companions; in many a frolic, and now one of them was here! Whiskey! Whiskey! I didn't feel like venturing on or even speaking, much all the time I was within these awful walls, where 700 of my fellow creatures, no worse than myself, had been tempted as they were, were shut out from all society, except their own, for various terms. It was especially touching to look at one in for life. One of these was working at his loom in the hemp-bagging factory, with a great chain upon him. He had killed a fellow-prisoner, since coming in, and was considered too dangerous even to go unchained in this house of horrors. The manufacture of hemp bagging, chairs, and the well-known cedar chests has long been and especially in this prison. The penitentiary was a large reputation, and the shoe shop is turning out a favorite, and superior quality of fine shoes—especially for ladies wear.

The Cemetery is one of surpassing beauty of location at the foot of the cliff, commanding a glorious view of the Kentucky river. Grand forest trees and lines of great size and heavily adorned this lovely "city of the dead." I was sorry to see the beautiful carving on Daniel Boone's monument had been chipped by Vandal hands until the faces of the figures had become horrible caricatures. Shame on the unallowable hand that marred it. Some of the private monuments are handsome and costly, while the simple slabs erected by the State at a cost of $25,000 to her dead warriors of the various battles, ancient and modern, is a master piece of sculpture and design.

The tide is turning fast and although the opposition does not it is going fast. GRAVE THE LORD, it confessions for soul, and 25 appointed to Friday night. From this on we have Major Hall. Sunday morning we will hold services in the penitentiary from 9 to 12, first preaching to the women and then to the men. At 3 p. m., services in the yard of the Capital, to accommodate excursion from Louisville and Lexington. Ever in Jesus.

Geo O. Barnes.

SUNDAY EVENING, JUNE 10th, 1882. A few supplementary lines to tell you the most remarkable service I ever witnessed. Promptly at nine this morning we were in the female ward of the Penitentiary. Separate religious services were held for the women and men. I had been looking forward to this privilege of preaching to the convicted ever since we thought of coming to Frankfort, and fully expected a blessing. But "exceeding abundantly above what I asked or thought" the dear Lord has given. There were 41 female convicts at the meeting, who had never confessed their Savior, and every one of them came. Four white, the rest colored. Several were already consistent Christians. It was a touching sight to witness this clear revelation of Spirit's power. At 11 o'clock the men were gathered in the course of a long experience, these confessions were as thoroughly genuine as any I have ever seen. At 10 o'clock we went to the Chapel where the men collect to hear preaching and for Sunday School. About 500 gathered promptly at the top of the prison hill. Three-fourths of an hour were consumed in distributing the prisoners' mail, so that our services lasted 1 1/2 hours. At 12 o'clock the dinner hour at risk, and although indulgence would have been kindly granted by the Warden and the dinner hour delayed, we did not trespass on the rules. In brief, then, 310 of the prisoners confessed the Savior, and at the earnest request of Nath. Woodcock, after the services were over we went down into the dining room where Mr. Grove Kennedy had been detained by his duties as Superintendent of the ordinary department, and there he made the good confession as the 311th number. Oh! how dry and sapless these words and numbers seem in describing such a scene. I shall never forget it. I never saw deeper and more genuine feeling at any meeting, and as I took hand after hand, most of the eyes were moistened with tender tears as they make the glorious confession. It was simply overwhelming.

The dear Governor and his noble lady with about a dozen friends who take deep interest in the prison work, were present. But I have no time to write more. At the afternoon service 11 confessions and 6 were announced. The Sunday afternoon, 422 for soul, and 45 appointed. Will put on back of envelope the result of tonight's meeting if it closes before the Louisville excursion train leaves. The train is full of excursionists from Louisville, Lexington, Versailles and Lawrenceburg, and the steamboat (?) has just arrived full of people from Madison, Indiana.

PRAISE THE LORD.

Platform and seats have been raised by the Governor in the Capital grounds for an open air service, but the rain drove us to the Opera Hall. Ever in Jesus.

Geo O. Barnes.

Twelve at Night
Kentucky Soldiers—A Card
Editor Interior Journal:—Some time since I filed a claim for leave of absence for Patrick Mahlon of Co. K, 20th Reg't Ky. Infantry Vols. (Col. Harlan). He enlisted in Louisville, Ky., in Co. K, of which Dick Watts was Lieutenant and who promised him his "midnight," but has failed to give it. He became captured in the right side in entering the fortifications at Mill Springs, Ky., 20th January 1862, was taken with his regiment back to Louisville, thence to Nashville, and being unable for duty, he was sent to the hospital and afterwards discharged. He is required to prove that he was sound and free from capture at enlistment. He is an Irishman and very poor and unable to work. He calls upon his comrades at Louisville to assist him in getting up the proof. Any information sent to his attorney (the undersigned) will be gladly received. Louisville papers I hope will give this a place in their columns. Respectfully,

ROBERT BLAIN,

HAVING associated myself with the Laurel County Coal Company, I am now prepared to sell coal to be delivered by the 1st of August at low figures. Respectfully, A. T. Munnelley, Agent.

An elegant stock of Jewelry just received for Commencement, consisting of Ladies' Watches and Chainettes, Bracelets, Necklaces, Pins, etc. Call and see them Penny & McAlister.

QUARTERLY COURT was in session yesterday and Judge Brown disposed of his 71 warrants and 12 petitions in short order. One only was put off for trial this term and that will be tried next Monday.

This paper has been gotten out under difficulties, the business manager and foreman both being down with symptoms of fever. We have got the best force in the world though for any emergency.

The programme for the concert Wednesday night, as arranged by that accomplished teacher, Miss Addie Purnell, is full of good things. Of course every body will be at the Opera Hall to enjoy it.

RELAY TRAINS.—The last Legislature deserves credit for one little law it passed, at least. It is in relation to relay trains and reads as follows: "Whenever any train used for the transporting of passengers is delayed at any railway station which is also a telegraph station, located in the State, for as much as thirty minutes, it shall be the duty of the agent of such station to post in some conspicuous place in the room used by passengers in the depot at such station the fact of the delay as soon as the same is ascertained by him. For a violation of this act there is a penalty of not less than $10 nor more than $50 for each failure." Fortunately since its adoption, April 21st, our trains have been running more than unusually regular.

COMMENCEMENT.—Another year has passed and Commencement is again upon us with its round of pleasant and profitable events. It has always been Mrs. T. R. Kellherford's custom to inaugurate it with a sermon, preached in their order by ministers of the various denominations, on the Sunday preceding the final exercises, on the Sunday of the final exercises, on the Sunday of the final exercises, on the Sunday of the final exercises.

—In Chicago, new wheat is sold for July at $1.19, and for August at $1.08. Corn is sold at 10 cents.

—John Bright left at this office a head of timothy grown on his place that measures over a foot in length.

—T. P. Bright got 101 bushels from 120 acres of wheat, and has already delivered 150 of them which averaged 72 1/2 lbs.

—The Register says that Wm. Gibson bought Mrs. Talitha Chevalier's farm in Madison, 230 acres at $90 per acre. The residence is an excellent brick and the farm is one of the best in the county.

—W. F. Hodgkin bought for Sallie & Co. in this county last week, 6 cattle from W. B. Nelson, for September delivery at 6 cts, and 51 head from P. B. Goff at 6 cts for September delivery. [Winchester Democrat.]

—Ben Robinson, of Garrard, was here yesterday receiving lambs. Dr. T. B. Montgomery furnished 65 bucks, averaging a little over 82 lbs, the best average yet considering that no ewes were taken; 11 P. Bright, 150 head averaging 72 1/2 lbs. C. M. Spoonmore 60 head of 75 lbs; and S. J. Embury 76 head of 72 lbs. Five cents was the price paid.

—Roasting pieces of beef cost in Washington Market last week from 22 to 21 cts a pound, porterhouse steaks from 25 to 30 cts, and even rump pieces from 18 to 18 cts. Mutton, lamb, veal, salt pork, bacon, and hams are also very high. Poultry and game, too, are comparatively costly; and even fish, abundant as it is, has gone up in price, the decrease of meat creating a demand for it.

LINCOLN COUNTY.
Hustonsville.

A suspicion of "mad dogs" threw our people into a ferment a few days ago, and led to a considerable filling off in the canine census, but in other respects no harm resulted.

—Having just returned from the mountains, and being much occupied at home, I have had no opportunity to obtain the topics of the time. There is no harm in stating that the cards are out for the marriage of Miss Pauline Owens ("Lena") and Mr. J. W. Salter, of Wayne, on the 15th inst.

—Sue Owens is in Lexington, preparing her preparations in anticipation of a busy season at the "Falls." The Cumberland River has been unusually high during the Spring, and hence the season has been thus far unpropitious for fishing. The water, however, is now in good condition, and when I left, fishing was very good. The improvements made in the surroundings since my former visits are simply marvellous. But it is not my purpose to put this delightful coast. I will only add that on the night before I left Mr. Owens lighted up the grounds by means of a system of street lamps, and the effect was a scene of enchantment.

MARRIAGES.
—Mr. Bainbridge, a giddy thing of 77, and Miss Emma Lewis, a gentle maiden of 70, were married at Washington a day or two ago.

—Invitation are out for the marriage on Thursday next of Mr. J. W. Salter, a thriving young merchant of Monticello, to Miss Pauline Owens, the popular and handsome daughter of Mrs. Mary Owens of this county.

—Uncle Jerry Maxwell writes us that he is on the way and will arrive at John Lynn's to-day with 35 head good grazers and 3 yoke heavy cattle.

RELIGIOUS.

—Chicago has 300 churches and over 5,000 drinking saloons.

—The Presbyterian church at Richmond is to be remodelled to the extent of $1,800.

—The National Conference of the Methodist Church of Canada unanimously voted in favor of Methodist union.

—The total amount of all funds received into the mission treasury, from the Baptist Societies for the last year, is $352,787.20.

—Rev. James Craig, D. D., for the past thirty years rector of Christ P. E. Church, Louisville, Ky., died at his home, near that city, at midnight, Friday, aged ninety-six years.

—Speaking of Mr. Barnes' meetings, the Frankfort Freeman says: Some persons who go to hear him in the afternoon take their lunch baskets along, and wait until the evening service in order to be sure of seats.

DEATHS.

—HALE.—About noon yesterday, of typhoid fever, Austin L. Hale, of this place, breathed his last aged about 40 years. Some two weeks ago he was taken with the fever, but being of a naturally strong constitution, and never having been confined to his bed but for a short time and then from a wound received while in the service of the "lost cause," he was loath to yield to its advance on his system and kept up till a few days ago. By that time the disease had gained full hold on him, and remedies were of no avail. His comparatively sudden death, therefore, is a shock to the entire community, in which he was held in the highest esteem as a citizen, as a Christian, and as a friend. His loss will be deeply felt by all, but his appalling weight is on her, whom he led to the marriage altar just ten years ago, and whom he loved with a devotion that was truly beautiful. She is sustained, however, in her fearful affliction by an assurance that he made her a few days before his death, when he said, "Woody, I do not want to tell you now that I do go off in a delirium, all is well with me. I am prepared to meet my God, though I would like to be spared for you and my dear children's sake." These words, while they will not stop the bleeding tears of sorrow, are sweet consolation to the soul, and will in a measure bind up the cruel wounds opened by an early separation. Speaking of him only a few days ago, his pastor assured us that he was one of the very best members of his (the Baptist) church, ready always to assist in the extent of his ability in every charitable or religious enterprise, looking to the advancement of the cause of Christ. A good man has been cut off in the midst of a useful life, again reminding us of the uncertainty of life and the certainty of death. May it find us well prepared to meet it. Mr. Hale was a member of the Masonic and Knights of Honor fraternities, and his remains will be escorted to their last resting place in Buffalo Cemetery, by the members of his lodge, after a funeral sermon at the Baptist church by the Rev. J. M. Bruce at 10 o'clock this morning.

LAND, STOCK AND CROP.

—C. M. Spoonmore sold to H. N. Ware a yoke of 800 lb. cattle for $80.

—About 50,000 bushels of new wheat sold in Mercer last week at $1 per bushel for July delivery.

—Thirty-one head of 3-year old cattle sold in Spencer at 42 for September delivery.

—In Chicago, new wheat is sold for July at $1.19, and for August at $1.08. Corn is sold at 10 cents.

—John Bright left at this office a head of timothy grown on his place that measures over a foot in length.

—A notice in the Christian Observer of the 7th inst., an announcement of the death of Rev. John Lapsley Yantis, D. D., which occurred in Lafayette county, Mo., May 28th. As I have seen no notice of this in your paper, and as Dr. Yantis was well-known and greatly beloved in this and adjoining counties, and especially as he was one of the ablest, most laborious and most efficient of the ministers of the Presbyterian church, I beg leave to call your attention to his demise. Dr. Yantis was born at Lancaster, Ky., Sept. 14th, 1804, and was consequently nearing the close of his 78th year. I remember him as a genial, active, earnest and eloquent minister during the early portion of his career, when he labored in his native State. His course in his new home was marked by the same characteristics. His labors were all ways abundant, and "his praises were in all the churches." He had preached in the morning in his usual vigorous and earnest style, complained of pain in his breast in the evening, and on being raised on the lounge on which he was reclining, suddenly expired. His malady was pronounced disease of the heart.

—Improvements are progressing in our village. The Baptist brethren are still at work on their foundation, that of their church building, I mean. J. M. Cook is erecting an addition to his store-house, Dr. Brown has completed a most artistic cellar above ground, and designed as a conservatory of meats and drinks, vegetables, fruit and dairy products, and regarded as of universal utility from the preservation of the tenderest tropical fruits to the cooling of lager beer. His new enterprise, now commenced, is the construction of a vast aviary to be conducted on Shaker principles, and replenished by donations from his bird-fancying friends. Thompson Cooper is pursuing the even tenor of his way with the same quiet dignity that characterized his long professional singleness. Jim Dunlap closed his session at the College last week, and has gone to Danville to consult the theologians on the question: Did Job, the man who stands before the world as a model of patience, ever test the validity of his claim by teaching school? Of course he did not. Had he submitted to that ordeal he would never have worn the belt.

—Winter seems to have found himself at last gloriously kicked out of "the lap of Spring." But even had there been no change in the temperature, still we should have a bright and balmy atmosphere now. The girls are home from school and many a household is made glad by the presence of the dear capricious, restless, whimsical pests. Big brothers are in constant requisition. Horse flesh grows in spirit. Cold viands disappear with a celerity never witnessed in a boarding school. Fledgling beards are in a fever of excitement, and even old lacholers are knitting, together the missing links in memory's chain and mourning that the days have come in which they are compelled to echo the plaint that they "have no pleasure in them." The farming community are more cheerful since the warm breezes have kissed the pulsing crops; and nature smiles again in promise of a bountiful harvest. In fact the influence of the improved weather is so great that no body has been killed in several days; nor has there been any excitement of late except that growing out of a contest between Wes. Hocker and Sam Williams as to which should bear the banner as chief decorator in the aesthetic art of whitewashing fences. It was a lively rivalry; but the job scored on both before a delighted populace were prepared to decide on whom victory would perch.

GARRARD COUNTY.

Lancaster.

—The Concert of Rosebud Academy under the management of Mrs. E. D. Potts was successfully given in the Hall Friday night.

—It is no doubt decidedly proper that Garrard should stand by Burdett for the nomination for Judge of the Superior Court, but would it be at all out of place to instruct our delegates as to a second choice, and would not Major A. R. Richards be about the best man you can think of to get that vote?

—The army worm made its appearance in a wheat field of John Anderson a few miles below town Wednesday afternoon and had stripped the field by the next morning. The field was small and the worm has not appeared in as great numbers as reported elsewhere. They have struck the wheat of A. O. & Jas. Burnside, but are not doing a great deal of damage as the grain is too near ripe.

—Lancaster has been overrun for several days with beggars. Two lots arrived from Richmond one day. One consisted of a woman and two children, a boy about 13 and a little girl about two years old. They were trying to get to Frankfort, but having heard the citizens of Richmond had given them about twenty-five dollars, people did not tumble to the professional racket of the boy. The other consisted of a young woman with two small children. The youngest was such a decided brunette it caused a suspicion that she had not "drawn the color line" at exactly the right point, therefore, she thinks this is "the dirtiest unclean place she ever struck."

—The Presbyterian church was crowded to its utmost by the friends of Jas. M. Logan and Miss Lilla J. Smith, to witness their marriage last Thursday morning. The church had been darkened, and the lamps lighted which gave an additional solemnity to the occasion. The bridal party arrived promptly at eleven o'clock, and marched into the church preceded by Messrs. J. C. Hemphill and Hugh Logan, who took a stand on either side of the pulpit with the bride and groom between them, facing the audience, when in a ceremony remarkable for its beauty as well as its length, the Rev. J. C. Randolph pronounced them husband and wife. They left immediately by carriage to Danville, hence to Cincinnati by rail. The bride was attired in a navy blue silk dress with hat to match. The groom was in regulation black and looked as happy as if he had had a big bill of clothing. It is understood Mrs. Logan will make her home in Lancaster, and society will not lose her for the present at least.

—Mr. George Hackley who was hurt by being thrown from a wagon last week, is still confined to his bed. Miss Laura Smith is seriously sick. Miss Bettie Fielder, of Louisville, is visiting Misses Walker and Penner, at Mr. Geo. Denney's.

—Misses Sallie Curry and Ada Marx have gone to Richmond, to attend the Commencement exercises of Central University.

—Miss Kate Wheeler, Belle Walker and Eliza Lusk have returned from Kentucky College, Perse Valley, the two first bearing diplomas of Masters of English and Polite Literature. Mr. James B. Green and wife and Geo. H. Cooper and wife of Hustonsville, attended the Logan-Smith wedding.

—Mrs. Jas. M. Cook, of Hustonsville, accompanied by Mrs. and Miss Stoop, of Virginia, are visiting relations in Lancaster and vicinity. Mrs. Armstrong, of Louisville, and Mrs. Young, of Lincoln county, are visiting their mother, Mrs. F. J. White.

—MARRIAGE.—David B. White to Miss Sallie B. Howe, near this place, Wednesday, June 7th, by Rev. J. L. Barnes. Mr. White says he had a right smart little Howe, but not much of a fuss.

—Mr. J. H. Wilson left on the train Friday morning for his home at Lebanon. He has been canvassing this place and vicinity in behalf of Peter A. Karins, manufacturer of monuments and head-stones.

—Mr. Wilson sold forty-nine jobs around here for cash.

—Jack Heister, living on Josephine Conn's place attempted suicide a few days ago by taking a big dose of strychnine, but the doctors worked their stomach pumps to good advantage and he is now out again. Family troubles caused him to wish to shuffle off his mortal coil.

—The Kirkcubright Commencement came off last Thursday. There was a large crowd there, the Christian church was running over. The little folks spoke in the day and the graduates of whom there were three, at night. The latter are Miss Tillie Adams, of Kingston, Madison county, and Miss Annie Higgins and Miss Jennie Brewitt, of Kirksville.

A CARD.
OUR CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR.—When the people are called upon to elect so important an officer of the Commonwealth as their Governor, they should be thoroughly informed as to the character of the men who offer for the position. My democracy is unquestioned, and I have heretofore supported Judge M. H. Owsley for Governor, but will not do so again, and as far from being a disinterested section where Judge Owsley is best known. Let me give you one fact alone. On Monday, the 5th inst., a Commonwealth's case of great importance was set to be tried before an examining Court at Rye, Kentucky, and while the trial was in progress the Judge took his seat by the defendant a 40-saved W. O. Bradley in his defense. The defendant was admitted to bail in a bond of one thousand dollars. The case referred to was the Commonwealth against Leo Dunn, charged with poisoning a young lady of the highest respectability by giving her wine with methurine (Spanish fly) in it, and his guilt was shown beyond the shadow of a doubt, and the public generally expressed their indignation. These are the plain facts. Let a candid public judge.
